Forney's Article on Grant

Some weeks ago the telegraph advised us that an article had been published in the Philadelphia Press stating Gen. Grant's views and declaring for him for President, and that Col. Forney had published a card announcing that the article was endorsed by General Grant. We copy from the Washington Chronicle of the 7th November, the material portion of this article

The only matter for discussion, we will not say dispute, is whether General Grant is in hearty accord with the great Republican party. It is because we believe we can answer this inquiry satisfactorily that we enroll ourselves among those who hail him as the providential instrument to defeat the renewed machinations of the enemies of the Republic. American history presents no parallel to the experience of General Grant since he received the surrender of the rebel armies at Appomattox Court House, on the 9th day of April, 1865. He became almost immediately the center of interest and of intrigue; and yet from that hour to the present, though sometimes doubted, and nearly always placed in a most delicate relation to a President who has violently torn himself away from his friends, and as suddenly thrown himself into the arms of his enemies, General Grant has grown more and more in the affections and confidence of his countrymen, until at last he stands revealed as the exponent of the great reconstruction policy of Congress. His acceptance of the portfolio of the Department of War, in obedience to a stern sense of public duty, was an act of rare sagacity and courage. Succeeding a minister peculiarly identified with the Radical majorities in Congress, who had been rudely displaced by the Executive, he did not hesitate to protest against his ejection, as he has not since hesitated to protest against the proscription of other equally faithful public servants. Without him the great law of reconstruction, upon the rigid maintenance of which it is not too much to say the whole fabric of Republican institutions depends, would have been a failure. The brave and vigilant chiefs of the five military districts into which the insurgent sections have been divided, would have been displaced or demoralized. But for his quiet and resolute example the Union men of the South, white and black, would have been consigned to the tender mercies of the impenitent yet pardoned traitors.

As evidence of General Grant's political views, the Press republishes the speech made some time ago at Galena, (Ill.,) by General John A. Rawlins, Grant's Chief of Staff, the speech delivered more recently by E. B. Washburne, Representative in Cong. from the Galena District, and Grant's letter to General Logan, granting him leave of absence from the army to stump Illinois in 1863. These documents we have heretofore published, and do not now reproduce them. The Press concludes its article as follows:

General Rawlins, Mr. Washburne and General Logan are now in Washington, and in close and daily intercourse with General Grant. We need scarcely say they are fully apprised of the position assumed in this article.

If it were necessary to add these ample authorities, we might refer at length to Gen. Grant's example since he assumed temporary control of the Department of War. His manly and cordial endorsement of Mr. Stanton when that eminent patriot retired; his fearless protest against the removal of General Sheridan; his earnest appeals against the last adjournment of Congress, and particularly his iterated counsel that the Senate should concur in the amendment of the House to supplement the reconstruction bill prohibiting the removal by the President of any district commanders of the South without the advice and consent of the Senate, are too familiar to the country to require present comment or commendation. But it may be interesting to state, as we do upon the authority of General John M. Thayer, Senator in Congress from the State of Nebraska, now in Washington, who also served with Gen. Grant in the early part of the war, that the latter felt so much interest about preserving the independence of these military commanders that he appealed personally to a number of Senators to support this important amendment. But we shall take an early opportunity to refer to these subjects.

If during the gloomiest hours of our struggle against the slave power it was Ulysses S. Grant who confirmed the faith of the American people and marshalled our armies to victory after some of the bravest and best had failed, may we not hail it as providential that he has been reserved for a still grander and more consummate responsibility? In a new and still more ominous crisis it is to him that the American people turn as their fittest and most deserving leader.

Rebel Indignation.

In the late election in Virginia, the blacks voted very much as they pleased, and very generally they preferred to vote the Radical ticket. Nobody had the right to complain of this. Yet the white rebels do complain most indignantly. Here are some extracts from leading Virginia paper:

[From the Lynchburg (Va) News]

"We are gratified to learn that one hundred and fifty negroes, employed at the Wythe Iron Mines, all of whom voted the straightout Radical ticket were discharged on Tuesday by the owner of the works. This is precisely the step which every white employer should take with the blacks who, by voting with "Hunnicut and his set," declare themselves openly and above board the enemies of the white race.

[From the Petersburg (Va) Index]

"Send them adrift unhesitatingly. Let them learn how unsatisfactory are the husks on which the Radicals would have them feed. They will soon weary of the diet and then, when they have proved repentance, let them return and be assisted in their efforts to become worthy people. But the offense has been greivous, and the penance has been severe, and the conversion must be proved by works. Until it is established they should be shunned as enemies."

If some Northern Republican manufacturer had visited this kind of punishment on the men in his employ who had seen fit to vote the Democratic ticket, words would'nt be adequate to express the horror of these same Virginia aristocrats. They do not seem to comprehend even yet that the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were not made exclusively for them and their families.

SHOWING THEIR COLORS.—The Copperheads of California having obtained a victory on a platform declaring the authority of the National Government paramount, are now very generally repudiating this doctrine, and going back to their old secession dogmas. The Butte County Press, the San Francisco Examiner, and the Amador Dispatch now declare that the Kentucky Resolutions of 1798, are still the "Democratic creed" They might have added that they are also the creed of all secessionists. The Amador Dispatch comes out in a flaming head-line with the words, "The Democratic creed," and under it the Kentucky Resolutions with this introduction from the Cincinnati platform:

"That the Democratic party will faithfully abide by and uphold the principles laid down in the Kentucky and Virginia Resolutions of 1798, and in the report of Mr. Madison to the Virginia Legislature in 1799, that it adopts those principles as constituting one of the main foundations of its political creed, and is resolved to carry them out in their obvious meaning and import."

It is said that there cannot be more than forty thousand barrels of pure whisky in America, at this time, yet, "whisky," so called, is being poured down in streams. The dealers who own a good article of whisky hold on to it, as the demand greatly exceeds the supply. Meantime American drinkers swallow all manner of adulterated stuff—all poison, fast or slow.

While ten men watch for chances, one man makes chances, and while ten men wait for something to turn up, one man turns something up; so, while ten fail, one succeeds and is called a man of luck or favorite of fortune. There is no luck like pluck, and fortune most favors those who are indifferent to fortune.

Ben. Wade's Testimony.

Senator Sumner, Carl Shurz, and Steward L. Woodford, of New York, have published or authorized the publication of statements to the effect that soon after the assassination of President Lincoln they held a conversation with Andrew Johnson as to the policy he should pursue in the administration of his Presidential office, and he gave expression to the most radical views—more radical, even than those entertained by many leaders of the Republican party. He invited Ben. Wade to a consultation, the details of which and the subsequent conduct of the President Senator Wade recently narrated to a correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial—Mr. Wade said:

He [the President] met me very cordially, shaking me with both hands, and said he was extremely glad to see me, and that there was not a man in Washington whose advice he would as soon have as mine. I told him I was very glad and very proud of that. We sat down, and he wanted to hear my views on public questions and public policy. Well, said I, the first thing I've got to say to you is, be warned, of the fate of all Vice Presidents who have been in your position. Look at Tyler and Fillmore, and pray to God every night to save you from their fate. Johnson seemed astonished to think that I had any apprehensions of that kind, but I told him he couldn't be too careful, for that he certainly would be tempted as they were. He said I need have no fears, that he meant to stand by the men and the party that elected him. I then went on to advise him what to do. I told him the first thing to do was to order the trial of a few of the leaders of the rebellion, before a military commission, and to hang them when found guilty. He said he would do that very thing, and would commence with Jeff. Davis. He told me to hunt up the law on the question, and I agreed to do it if he would name some one to help me. He named Ben. Butler. Butler and I called on him a day or two after to find out exactly what he wanted, and we had a long talk with him. He told us he meant to hang the leaders of the rebellion right away, as soon as they could be tried and convicted by a military commission. As we went away Ben. Butler said he was delighted with Johnson; that he seemed to be a regular trump. We looked up the law in the case, and in a few days I called on him again. I talked to him about this very question of reconstruction. He said he was very glad that it was a matter with which he had nothing to do; that it belonged to Congress exclusively, and he should let Congress take care of it. We parted and soon, after I went home, with the assurance from him that he would take no step not sanctioned by the leaders of the Republican party. I heard nothing from him until about two months later, when I met John Covode at a hotel in Cleveland, and learned that the President had been in close communication with Copperheads and rebels and had said to Covode that he (Johnson) could do without the Radicals better than the Radical can do without him. About a month after I went on to Washington for the winter, and I called at the White House. I found the ante-room full of rebels and Copperheads, and I was soon convinced from the style in which I was received, that Johnson had found friends and advisers outside of the Republican party. I knew then that he had started on the downward track, and made up his mind to betray the party, and the country, too, if he could. I tried my best to keep him in, but it was no go.

THE DECLINE IN COTTON.—The great fall in cotton seriously affects business prospects in the South. The planters will not make their expenses, and those who have rented land will lose money. A large amount of Northern capital invested in cotton planted will be lost. Cotton of the new crop now coming into market is selling in the principal cotton depots of the South at fourteen or fifteen cents, tax included. The buyer generally pays the tax, so the planter obtains about twelve and a half cents, net by a pound.

All the expenses attending the cotton culture are double what they were before the war. The twelve and a half cents a pound which the cotton grower receives, will be worth to him but six and a quarter cents, compared with the specie price of 1860. It is impossible that cotton can be made another season at this price.

But the price is still further to decline, as we hear from the state of the cotton trade abroad. East India and Egyptian cotton will supply the Liverpool market at less rates even than the present. East India cotton is now quoted at Liverpool at seven pence, and it can be afforded with fair profit at four pence-half penny. This will close the market against United States cotton for the future. Cotton will cease to be an American staple.

It is reported that at Memphis, a great cotton mart, the decline of cotton causes much embarrassment and that many persons there attribute it to combinations in Liverpool and New York against the Southern States.

But it so happens that the Liverpool and New York cotton trade severely suffers by the decline, and that many of the dealers in the staple are brought by it to the verge of bankruptcy. Large amounts have been lost in New York, as well as in Liverpool, in vain efforts to sustain the prices.

The dry goods market in New York and elsewhere feels the cotton decline. The domestic and imported goods are selling below cost. Some cottons bring less prices than they did before the war, and still the tendency is downward.

Cotton factors in the South advise planters not to hold back their crops in the hope of a cent or two on the pound, as there is more likelihood of a further decline than an advance.

It ought to be the very first business of Congress at the ensuing session to repeal the cotton tax, and to provide for refunding what has been collected upon the crop of this season.

THE SUMNER SCANDAL REFUTED.—The Hannibal Courier, after quoting the "Sumner Scandal" story of the N. Y. Express, says:

In addition to the above, the blackguards who run the Democratic press have embellished the scandal with the outpourings of their own vicious imaginations, after having tried to root their swinish snouts into Sumner's private affairs in a manner too disgusting to repeat. We have received from Washington a letter in which the writer refutes the scandal, as follows.

"Mrs Sumner has gone to Europe with Mrs. Hooper, wife of Samuel Hooper, Representative to Congress from Massachusetts. She left last month. For some reason there has been a change of programme. Mr. and Mrs. Sumner were to keep house here this winter, and were having a nice house built for them. Now the house is given up and Sumner has taken rooms.

"With regard to the charge of Sumner's inability to obey the command given to Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden, I have to say that it was well known here in Washington last spring that there was an heir prospective for the Sumner family, the signs of which were very apparent. I presume that Mrs. Sumner has been prematurely ill, and probably disappointment at the loss, together with necessary attention to health precautions, has changed her plan and sent her to Europe.

"The statement about Sumner's jealousy of the intimacy between his wife and Baron Holstein, of the Prussian Legation, has no foundation in truth, but is a pure invention of Copperhead malice, with only the trip to Europe as a basis."

Thus falls to the ground this malicious scandal. While it cannot injure Sumner in the estimation of those who personally know him, it cannot fail to show up in their true character the vicious souls of those Democratic partisans who do not hesitate to invade the sacred precincts of the house life of a public man, if thereby they can make capital for the party which they thus disgrace.

THE WELLINGTON PAPERS.—The present Duke of Wellington is printing the whole body of his illustrious father's papers, for safety, not for publication. The dispatches given to the world in general are founded on those printed documents. We believe the Duke's plan is to put everything into the custody of type; and then to strike out such passages as affect living personages too closely, or such as it might be indiscreet to make public. Three copies only of the original impression are to be taken; one copy for preservation at Apsley House, a second at Strathfieldsaye, and a third at his Grace's bankers. The Duke, we are sorry to hear, objects to depositing one of these originals in either a public office or the British Museum. Valuable as are the published dispatches, every reader will suspect that the suppressed passages must be still more curious and entertaining.—London and China Express.

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE. The report of the Department of Agriculture for October, says.

The wheat crop of the country will exceed any harvest hitherto gathered. The amount is placed at 222,000,000 to 225,000,000 bushels. Illinois gives an increase of 7 per cent; Michigan, 13; Iowa, 15; Wisconsin, 16; Ohio, 130; Indiana, 85; West Virginia, 51, Kentucky, 38; Pennsylvania, 57.

The quality of wheat is greatly superior to that of last year, and it is almost universally sound and dry, but in many localities there may be found from a third to a half deficiency in weight, lacking in plumpness or slightly shrivelled, and passing as No 2, being less than 58 pounds to the bushel. There is also a greater tendency to cleanliness and care in preparing the grain for market.

Oats—The aggregate will exceed 260,000,000 bushels—about 3 per cent. above last year.

Rye—Estimate of all the States, excepting those on the Pacific, 21,000,000 bushels; increase 6 per cent.

Barley—Deficient about 500,000 bushels, or 4 per cent.

Beans and peas more than an average crop.

Corn—Quality uniformly good. The value of the entire crop, after deducting the deficiency in the Ohio valley, and allowing for the ... ... almost all the other States, will be ... than that of last year.

Sorghum generally declined, and despondency is evident in the feelings of many growers.

Buckwheat is hardly equal to last year.

Potato crop poor.

Tobacco—Less than last year.

Sugar—Twenty per cent. greater than the small crop of last year.

Cotton—About 2,500,000 bales, of 500 pounds each.

Fattening cattle—A small deficiency in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Further west and northwest, the supply is generally quite as good as last year in those States that purported to have refused supply. There is a reduction in the condition of all the others.

The reports upon the supply of grain are quite favorable. Old wheat shows a ... ... as compared with last year. The ... of old wheat has not been reduced so low for many years, if ever.

Forney's Article on Grant

Some weeks ago the telegraph advised us that an article had been published in the Philadelphia Press stating Gen. Grant's views and declaring for him for President, and that Col. Forney had published a card announcing that the article was endorsed by General Grant. We copy from the Washington Chronicle of the 7th November, the material portion of this article

The only matter for discussion, we will not say dispute, is whether General Grant is in hearty accord with the great Republican party. It is because we believe we can answer this inquiry satisfactorily that we enroll ourselves among those who hail him as the providential instrument to defeat the renewed machinations of the enemies of the Republic. American history presents no parallel to the experience of General Grant since he received the surrender of the rebel armies at Appomattox Court House, on the 9th day of April, 1865. He became almost immediately the center of interest and of intrigue, and yet from that hour to the present, though sometimes doubted, and nearly always placed in a most delicate relation to a President who has violently torn himself away from his friends, and as suddenly thrown himself into the arms of his enemies, General Grant has grown more and more in the affections and confidence of his countrymen, until at last he stands revealed as the exponent of the great reconstruction policy of Congress. His acceptance of the portfolio of the Department of War, in obedience to a stern sense of public duty, was an act of rare sagacity and courage. Succeeding a minister peculiarly identified with the Radical majorities in Congress, who had been rudely displaced by the Executive, he did not hesitate to protest against his ejection, as he has not since hesitated to protest against the proscription of other equally faithful public servants. Without him the great law of reconstruction, upon the rigid maintenance of which it is not too much to say the whole fabric of Republican institutions depends, would have been a failure. The brave and vigilant chiefs of the five military districts into which the insurgent sections have been divided, would have been displaced or demoralized. But for his quiet and resolute example the Union men of the South, white and black, would have been consigned to the tender mercies of the impenitent yet pardoned traitors.

As evidence of General Grant's political views, the Press republishes the speech made some time ago at Galena, (Ill.,) by General John A. Rawlins, Grant's Chief of Staff, the speech delivered more recently by E. B. Washburne, Representative in Congress from the Galena District, and Grant's letter to General Logan, granting him leave of absence from the army to stump Illinois in 1863. These documents we have heretofore published, and do not now reproduce them. The Press concludes its article as follows:

General Rawlins, Mr. Washburne and General Logan are now in Washington, and in close and daily intercourse with General Grant. We need scarcely say they are fully apprised of the position assumed in this article.

If it were necessary to add these ample authorities, we might refer at length to Gen. Grant's example since he assumed temporary control of the Department of War. His manly and cordial endorsement of Mr. Stanton when that eminent patriot retired; his fearless protest against the removal of General Sheridan; his earnest appeals against the last adjournment of Congress, and particularly his iterated counsel that the Senate should concur in the amendment of the House to supplement the reconstruction bill prohibiting the removal by the President of any district commanders of the South without the advice and consent of the Senate, are too familiar to the country to require present comment or commendation. But it may be interesting to state, as we do upon the authority of General John M. Thayer, Senator in Congress from the State of Nebraska, now in Washington, who also served with Gen. Grant in the early part of the war, that the latter felt so much interest about preserving the independence of these military commanders that he appealed personally to a number of Senators to support this important amendment. But we shall take an early opportunity to refer to these subjects.

If during the gloomiest hours of our struggle against the slave power it was Ulysses S. Grant who confirmed the faith of the American people and marshalled our armies to victory after some of the bravest and best had failed, may we not hail it as providential that he has been reserved for a still grander and more consummate responsibility? In a new and still more ominous crisis it is to him that the American people turn as their fittest and most deserving leader.

Rebel Indignation.

In the late election in Virginia, the blacks voted very much as they pleased, and very generally they pl... ... to vote the Radical ticket. Nobody had the right to complain of this. Yet the white rebels do complain most indignantly. Here are some extracts from leading Virginia paper:

[From the Lynchburg (Va.) News]

"We are gratified to learn that one hundred and fifty negroes, employed at the Wythe Iron Mines, all of whom voted the straightout Radical ticket were discharged on Tuesday by the owner of the works. This is precisely the step which every white employer should take with the blacks who, by voting with "Hunnicut and his set," declare themselves openly and above board the enemies of the white race.

[From the Petersburg (Va.) Index]

"Send them adrift unhesitatingly. Let them learn how unsatisfactory are the husks on which the Radicals would have them feed. They will soon weary of the diet and then, when they have proved repentance, let them return and be assisted in their efforts to become worthy people. But the offense has been grievous, and the penance has been severe, and the conversion must be proved by works. Until it is established they should be shunned as enemies."

If some Northern Republican manufacturer had visited this kind of punishment on the men in his employ who had seen fit to vote the Democratic ticket, words would'nt be adequate to express the horror of these same Virginia aristocrats. They do not seem to comprehend even yet that the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were not made exclusively for them and their families.

SHOWING THEIR COLORS.—The Copperheads of California having obtained a victory on a platform declaring the authority of the National Government paramount, are now very generally repudiating this doctrine, and going back to their old secession dogmas. The Butte County Press, the San Francisco Examiner, and the Amador Dispatch now declare that the Kentucky Resolutions of 1798, are still the "Democratic creed." They might have added that they are also the creed of all secessionists. The Amador Dispatch comes out in a flaming head-line with the words, "The Democratic creed," and under it the Kentucky Resolutions with this introduction from the Cincinnati platform:

"That the Democratic party will faithfully abide by and uphold the principles laid down in the Kentucky and Virginia Resolutions of 1798, and in the report of Mr. Madison to the Virginia Legislature in 1799; that it adopts those principles as constituting one of the main foundations of its political creed, and is resolved to carry them out in their obvious meaning and import."

It is said that there cannot be more than forty thousand barrels of pure whisky in America, at this time, yet, "whisky," so called, is being poured down in streams. The dealers who own a good article of whisky hold on to it, as the demand greatly exceeds the supply. Meantime American drinkers swallow all manner of adulterated stuff—all poison, fast or slow.

While ten men watch for chances, one man makes chances, and while ten men wait for something to turn up, one man turns something up; so, while ten fail, one succeeds and is called a man of luck or favorite of fortune. There is no luck like pluck, and fortune most favors those who are indifferent to fortune.

Ben. Wade's Testimony.

Senator Sumner, Carl Shurz, and Steward L. Woodford, of New York, have published or authorized the publication of statements to the effect that soon after the assassination of President Lincoln they held a conversation with Andrew Johnson as to the policy he should pursue in the administration of his Presidential office, and he gave expression to the most radical views—more radical, even than those entertained by many leaders of the Republican party. He invited Ben. Wade to a consultation, the details of which and the subsequent conduct of the President Senator Wade recently narrated to a correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial—Mr. Wade said

He [the President] met me very cordially, shaking me with both hands, and said he was extremely glad to see me, and that there was not a man in Washington whose advice he would as soon have as mine. I told him I was very glad and very proud of that. We sat down, and he wanted to hear my views on public questions and public policy. Well, said I, the first thing I've got to say to you is, be warned of the fate of all Vice Presidents who have been in your position. Look at Tyler and Fillmore, and pray to God every night to save you from their fate. Johnson seemed astonished to think that I had any apprehensions of that kind, but I told him he couldn't be too careful, for that he certainly would be tempted as they were. He said I need have no fears, that he meant to stand by the men and the party that elected him. I then went on to advise him what to do. I told him the first thing to do was to order the trial of a few of the leaders of the rebellion, before a military commission, and to hang them when found guilty. He said he would do that very thing, and would commence with Jeff. Davis. He told me to hunt up the law on the question, and I agreed to do it if he would name some one to help me. He named Ben. Butler. Butler and I called on him a day or two after to find out exactly what he wanted, and we had a long talk with him. He told us he meant to hang the leaders of the rebellion right away, as soon as they could be tried and convicted by a military commission. As we went away Ben. Butler said he was delighted with Johnson; that he seemed to be a regular trump. We looked up the law in the case, and in a few days I called on him again. I talked to him about this very question of reconstruction. He said he was very glad that it was a matter with which he had nothing to do; that it belonged to Congress exclusively, and he should let Congress take care of it. We parted and soon after I went home, with the assurance from him that he would take no step not sanctioned by the leaders of the Republican party. I heard nothing from him until about two months later, when I met John Covode at a hotel in Cleveland, and learned that the President had been in close communication with Copperheads and rebels and had said to Covode that he (Johnson) could do without the Radicals better than the Radical can do without him. About a month after I went on to Washington for the winter, and I called at the White House. I found the ante-room full of rebels and Copperheads, and I was soon convinced from the style in which I was received, that Johnson had found friends and advisers outside of the Republican party. I knew then that he had started on the downward track, and made up his mind to betray the party, and the country, too, if he could. I tried my best to keep him in, but it was no go.

THE DECLINE IN COTTON.—The great fall in cotton seriously affects business prospects in the South. The planters will not make their expenses, and those who have rented land will lose money. A large amount of Northern capital invested in cotton planted will be lost. Cotton of the new crop now coming into market is selling in the principal cotton depots of the South at fourteen or fifteen cents, tax included. The buyer generally pays the tax, so the planter obtains about twelve and a half cents, currency a pound.

All the expenses attending the cotton culture are double what they were before the war. The twelve and a half cents a pound which the cotton grower receives, will be worth to him but six and a quarter cents, compared with the specie price of 1860. It is impossible that cotton can be made another season at this price.

But the price is still further to decline, as we hear from the state of the cotton trade abroad. East India and Egyptian cotton will supply the Liverpool market at less rates even than the present. East India cotton is now quoted at Liverpool at seven pence, and it can be afforded with fair profit at four pence-half penny. This will close the market against United States cotton for the future. Cotton will cease to be an American staple.

It is reported that at Memphis, a great cotton mart, the decline of cotton causes much embarrassment and that many persons there attribute it to combinations in Liverpool and New York against the Southern States.

But it so happens that the Liverpool and New York cotton trade severely suffers by the decline, and that many of the dealers in the staple are brought by it to the verge of bankruptcy. Large amounts have been lost in New York, as well as in Liverpool, in vain efforts to sustain the prices.

The dry goods market in New York and elsewhere feels the cotton decline. The domestic and imported goods are selling below cost. Some cottons bring less prices than they did before the war, and still the tendency is downwrd.

Cotton factors in the South advise planters not to hold back their crops in the hope of a cent or two on the pound, as there is more likelihood of a further decline than an advance.

It ought to be the very first business of Congress at the ensuing session to repeal the cotton tax, and to provide for refunding what has been collected upon the crop of this season.

THE SUMNER SCANDAL REFUTED.—The Hannibal Courier, after quoting the "Sumner Scandal" story of the N. Y. Express, says:

In addition to the above, the blackguards who run the Democratic press have embellished the scandal with the outpourings of their own vicious imaginations, after having tried to root their swinish snouts into Sumner's private affairs in a manner too disgusting to repeat. We have received from Washington a letter in which the writer refutes the scandal, as follows.

"Mrs. Sumner has gone to Europe with Mrs. Hooper, wife of Samuel Hooper, Representative to Congress from Massachusetts. She left last month. For some reason there has been a change of programme. Mr. and Mrs. Sumner were to keep house here this winter, and were having a nice house built for them. Now the house is given up and Sumner has taken rooms.

"With regard to the charge of Sumner's inability to obey the command given to Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden, I have to say that it was well known here in Washington last spring that there was an heir prospective for the Sumner family, the signs of which were very apparent. I presume that Mrs. Sumner has been prematurely ill, and probably disappointment at the loss, together with necessary attention to health precautions, has changed her plan and sent her to Europe.

"The statement about Sumner's jealousy of the intimacy between his wife and Baron Holstein, of the Prussian Legation, has no foundation in truth, but is a pure invention of Copperhead malice, with only the trip to Europe as a basis."

Thus falls to the ground this malicious scandal. While it cannot injure Sumner in the estimation of those who personally know him, it cannot fail to show up in their true character the vicious souls of those Democratic partisans who do not hesitate to invade the sacred precincts of the home life of a public man, if thereby they can make capital for the party which they thus disgrace.

THE WELLINGTON PAPERS.—The present Duke of Wellington is printing the whole body of his illustrious father's papers, for safety, not for publication. The dispatches given to the world in general are founded on those printed documents. We believe the Duke's plan is to put everything into the custody of type; and then to strike out such passages as affect living personages too closely, or such as it might be indiscreet to make public. Three copies only of the original impression are to be taken, one copy for preservation at Apsley House, a second at Strathfieldsaye, and a third at his Grace's bankers. The Duke, we are sorry to hear, objects to depositing one of these originals in either a public office or the British Museum. Valuable as are the published dispatches, every reader will suspect that the suppressed passages must be still more curious and entertaining.—London and China Express.

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.—The report of the Department of Agriculture for October, says,

The wheat crop of the country will exceed any harvest hitherto gathered. The amount is placed at 222,000,000 to 225,000,000 bushels. Illinois gives an increase of 7 per cent; Michigan, 38; Iowa, 15; Wisconsin, 16; Ohio, 130; Indiana, 85; West Virginia, 51, Kentucky, 38; Pennsylvania, 57.

The quality of wheat is greatly superior to that of last year, and it is almost universally sound and dry, but in many localities there may be found from a third to a half deficiency in weight, lacking in plumpness or slightly shrivelled, and passing as No 2, being less than 58 pounds to the bushel. There is also a greater tendency to cleanliness and care in preparing the grain for market.

Oats—The aggregate will exceed 250,000,000 bushels—about 3 per cent. above last year.

Rye—Estimate of all the States, excepting those on the Pacific, 21,000,000 bushels; increase 6 per cent.

Barley—Deficient about 500,000 bushels, or 4 per cent.

Beans and peas more than an average crop.

THURSDAY MORNING, DEC 5, 1867

Science vs. the Negro.

The editor of the Lafayette Courier has finished his series of articles on ethnology. He has been laboring with heroic resolution to prove his own superiority over the negro. His object has been to argue Sambo down, and his concluding article certainly is "powerful." Its erudition is surpassed by nothing except its own astonishing eloquence. "We can discern," says the editor in rapturous language, "the character in whom the high, exalted and sublime emotions that soar toward Heaven and catches its inspiration from the immortal God, absolved from all low mean and groveling thoughts, absorbed in soul transporting thoughts of the good and glory of one's country, from the low, groveling souls, who are utterly incapable of elevating themselves to the higher, nobler duties of pure virtue and patriotism." There, now! We challenge any "low, groveling nigger" to equal that! Fred Douglass himself could not write such a sentence if his freedom and his life depended on it. To write in this way "comes by nature;" and here we see a verification of Dogberry's proverb. That a "nigger" should pretend to be the equal of the character which "soars" and "catches its inspiration" in this fashion is indeed most tolerable and not to be endured. It will be seen that the Courier has utterly annihilated its adversary with tropes and other light artillery, even before bringing to bear upon him the heavier metal of scientific facts and arguments. But the Courier's blood was up, and it was resolved not to leave a remnant or shred of the negro, or even a lock of his wool. To this circumstance the world is indebted for the profoundly scientific article with which it has been favored.

"The sutures, or soft places in the head," says the Courier, (here's a rare definition for osteologists) "close much earlier in the negro than in the white, and thus the development of the brain is checked and leaves the negro a perpetual child." That's what's the matter. This trouble with the "sutures." And doubtless it is to the fact that the "soft places in the head" of the editor of the Courier have not closed yet,—allowing such a remarkable degree of brain development,—that we are indebted for this original argument, as well as for that extraordinary display of rhetoric which embellishes the exordium of his article.

Again we quote: "Among the many peculiarities of this race, he is less in hight than the white, his bones are larger and thicker in proportion to [illegible] with [illegible]." Here is another positive proof of the negro's inferiority. Too much "calcerous salts." Probably this "calcerous" [illegible] is what closes the "sutures." The Courier shall have the sole credit of this discovery. But to go on with the negro's anatomy. "His thorax is laterly compressed,"—(don't say whether it was formerly [illegible] or not)—"his knees are bent, calves weak, neck short and heavily [illegible], hands large, [illegible] flat, and with long, thin, [illegible] thumb. All of which, to the philosopher of mind, stamps him with God's seal of mental and moral inferiority."

We have given the material portion of the Courier's argument. Such ability must make its influence felt in the scientific world. There is a [illegible] for which the editor of the Courier is [illegible] qualified. It would not surprise us to hear any day that he has been elected to the chair of African Anatomy and Ethiopian Ethnology in the "[illegible] and Jayhawk Institoot" at Confederate X Roads. This, [illegible], is his field. Such talents ought not to be wasted on the [illegible] air of the Abolition county of Yamhill.

[illegible] the "Professor's" argument [illegible] these practical results are [illegible]: The "sutures in the negro's head close much earlier than in the white," [illegible] the negro should be a slave and it is the white man's right to oppress him. In the negro's [illegible] [illegible] of "calcareous salts;" [illegible] he has no rights which the white man is bound to respect. The negro's thorax is "laterly [illegible]" and he has "long thin [illegible]" therefore his "normal condition" is that of enforced and unrequited servitude. Let us be thankful for the light of science and [illegible]

The report of General Howard, Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, is published. The report [illegible] the operations of the Bureau during the past year. The average number of rations issued for the year was 11,658 per day. The following facts are embodied in the report: In the latter part of last winter the destitution became so great in some sections that urgent appeals were made for a more general distribution of supplies, and Congress passed an act appropriating half a million dollars as a [illegible] relief fund. Almost the whole of this was expended under the direction of the Bureau in relieving the [illegible] of the people. The total number of persons who received relief was reported at 233,272, a considerably more than half of whom were whites. These facts are commended to the attention of those who pretend to believe that the Freedmen's Bureau is a contrivance for maintaining lazy [illegible] in idleness. It is to be hoped that this report will give considerable relief to those who are continually denouncing the "Nigger Bureau." The entire expenditures for [illegible] months, ending in S[illegible], was $3,567,397 55. Yet it is continually asserted by a portion of the newspaper press that the whites of the [illegible] are taxed to the amount of one hundred million dollars annually to maintain a lot of "worthless niggers." When the fact is that the whole cost is not over four millions per year, and half of this goes to furnish relief to white persons. The law creating the Bureau will expire by limitation in July next, and Gen. Howard recommends that the Bureau be then discontinued. This will undoubtedly be done, and the seedy "chivalry" of the South who have been supported by the Government will then be turned off with the blacks to obtain a living for themselves. General Howard thinks that after July next there will be little danger of any suffering from want among any class of the people.

"FLIP FLOP."—The Walla Walla Statesman has blossomed into the most intense Copperheadism. It alludes to the resolutions reported in Congress to pay the national debt honestly in coin, except that portion which is expressly payable in currency, and says Congress is at its "dirty work again." Newell seems to have a very singular idea of honorable conduct. Had Congress shown a disposition to repudiate the debt, no doubt he would have been delighted with the honesty and morality of the proposition. We also observe that the Statesman is rejoicing greatly over the result of the recent elections. It says "More than half the distance back that we were driven in the 'fog' at the Presidential campaign of 1864, we have recovered." This is good, considering that the editor of the Statesman himself supported Mr. Lincoln in 1864, and helped to drive the party he now associates with into the "fog" and black Cimmerian darkness which enveloped it at that time. Newell is the grand original flip-flop in journalism.

The vote of Iowa in the late election was as follows: Republican, 90,789, Democratic, 58,880. Republican majority, 31,909. Two years ago, the vote was as follows: Republican, 70,445, Democratic, 54,070. Republican majority, 16,375.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO DECEMBER 4.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Dec 3.—The Senate has elected Standing Committees. There is no change in the Chairmanship of Committees. They are almost precisely the same as last year.

Mr Nye introduced a bill authorizing the Western Pacific Railroad Co. to locate its terminus at Yerba Buena Island, in San Francisco Bay, and granting it such portion of the island as is not selected [illegible] within one year from the passage of the act. Also authorizing it to construct a railroad thence to Stockton, giving it all the privileges now conferred by the special acts of Congress relative to said company.

In the House, upon the presentation of the President's message, Schenck called attention to the fact that the message had been printed in the journals of all the leading cities. He considered it disrespectful to Congress, and said the message had been sold in open market. The message was received and referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A bill was introduced to repeal the cotton tax.

Mr Stevens introduced a resolution in regard to a division of Texas into two or more States. Objected to, and not received. Adjourned.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Dec 4.—Hoffman is elected Mayor by 1,000 majority over both Wood and Darling. The Tammany party carried most of the minor offices.

The famous express war closes to-morrow. All principal companies signing an agreement that the profits shall be divided, the Merchants Union and Adams companies taking the lion's share.

RICHMOND, Dec. 3.—The reconstruction convention met to-day in caucus and it was agreed that Judge Underwood should be permanent chairman.

Alabama Convention.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec 3.—The Radical members of the convention held a caucus and nominated a full ticket for State officers. Wm A. Smith was nominated for Governor.

An ordinance prohibiting mixed marriages was defeated. An ordinance was passed staying the collection of debts until January.

It is said that Gen. Pope has telegraphed to General Swaine, asking if the convention could not be induced to adjourn without further action. He says it is doing incalculable injury by its assumption of legislation. The convention has not fixed a day for adjournment. The members declare Pope's dispatch to be insulting.

FROM BAKER COUNTY.

The following letter is published in the Boise Statesman:

SHASTA MINES, BAKER CO., OREGON,
November 16th, 1867.

After an absence from Idaho for two months in this new El Dorado of Eastern Oregon, I have concluded to write up a few items for your paper concerning these new mines, thinking they might be of interest to the many incredulous of Idaho, although I cannot hope to interest the public to a very great extent.

About the 15th of September I bade adieu to our old friend Root Hog, and turned my face toward this place with spirits anything but buoyant. My mind was fully made up to meet a "steamboat" out in this savage country. I left the Burnt river road at the late Mr. Scott's, and turned abruptly to the left and struck up Dixie creek, but not to the tune of Dixie, for it was a cussed sight harder to travel than Jordan. Instinctively I frequently found myself putting my hand to my head to be assured that my scalp was in its accustomed place. About noon I arrived at the eight miles from Scott's. Rye valley presents rather a charming aspect, nestled under the shade of huge mountains. There are some good claims here. The great difficulty is the scarcity of water for mining purposes. What little water there is is completely monopolized. The mines will doubtless last for many years. The place has one neat store, some half dozen families, and about double the number of miners. One serious drawback to the camp is that it affords great natural advantages to the lurking foe of the white man (the savage) who frequently wreak a bloody revenge on the unsuspecting settler and miner. Leaving the delightful little valley, I followed the course of Dixie creek in a south west direction, passed over the huge granite divide and down the slope, which brought us to the isolated camp of distant from Rye valley eight miles. The town presents rather an unsightly and dilapidated appearance. And here the trouble is an insufficient quantity of water, nor can the difficulty ever be obviated. The altitude of the mountains is too great ever to get water over them. Some of the claims are fabulously rich. Last summer, one nugget was exhumed from these mines weighing six hundred and forty dollars. The gold obtained here is of the finest quality. Nodding our adieus to the Latter Day Saintville, an hour brought us to the summit or divide between the basin and Willow creek, and for the first time we beheld the great Shasta or for it cannot be considered anything else. As viewed from the mountains about sixty miles from east to west the almost total absence of timber renders the country monotonous in the extreme. Shasta creek mines are distant from Mormon basin about eight miles, in a southwest direction. We arrived here late in the evening, and the following night dreamed of the paternal roof far away, big strikes, and the ship or the cayuse that should bear us and our treasure to the scenes of our childhood. One mile west of Shasta creek is the celebrated Rattlesnake gulch and Rich creek. On the northern side of the former stands the incipient city of Fairview. On my first arrival it could number but a few indifferent shanties, but in the last four weeks it has taken a new start and now bids fair to become a place of considerable size and importance. Owing to the lateness of the season, and being but recently assured that we would get water in the spring has deterred many from building and bringing in goods. Now the season is so far advanced we expect but a limited supply of goods, and expect nothing this year aside from the Grand Ronde valley, and they don't invest anything but eggs and potatoes. What the miners want now is provisions and groceries of all kinds. Mining tools of all descriptions, gum boots and hydraulic apparatus, will be in great demand in the spring, before they can be brought in over the snow. The public will please excuse me for I forgot to mention the existence of a cayuse store in the city. The proprietor is known by the euphonious appellation of "Cob Handle." Now, the aforementioned proprietor and Cob Handle partakes too much of the genus homo of "Root Hog" to be a successful merchant, and some of the boys here are well acquainted with the latter specimen of bristles and tail, and say nothing about the snout.

WATER.

Carter & Co.'s surveyor and agent assured me a few days since that he would have water in here from their ditch in the spring. Also, Mr. S. B. Reeves stated that he would have water from his Alder creek ditch. He also intends to tap Willow creek about ten miles above here. Willow creek will afford two or three thousand inches of water for about three months.

BUILDING MATERIAL

can be obtained at reasonable rates at Mr. Kountz mill on Burnt river, distant about eight miles from here, and from the mill recently brought in from Boise by Mr. Moore. I doubt very much if both mills will be able to furnish all the demand next season.

WHISKY AND POLITICS.

At present we have neither one nor the other. Political lines will hardly be drawn before next spring. In sentiment it is about a stand off. The boys indulge in youthful amusements occasionally, such as dancing without crinoline and calico. Now and then they treat us to a cayuse race—sometimes on the square and sometimes on the acute angle.

"AN ACKNOWLEDGED INSTITUTION."—"Brown's Bronchial Troches are among the acknowledged Institutions of the land. What would our ministers, our lecturers, our lawyers do without these invaluable Troches? To what an amount of 'ahems' and coughs and throat clearings would we all be subjected, were it not for those all powerful and soothing lozenges? We have tried them, and they did us good."—A. F. Waverly.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—This important document reviews many serious questions now pending in our country, advising a reduction of taxes on a number of articles, and even not omitting to proclaim to the citizens of Oregon that KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street, under all circumstances have proved themselves worthy of the largest share of custom by selling the very best and latest styles of Clothing and Gent's Furnishing Goods; also, Dry Goods lower than any other house in the State.

Buchtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art. Photographs from card to life size. The new cabinet cards &c, &c. Small pictures enlarged (retouched in India ink—painted in water-colors or oil) by Mrs. S. J. Rumsey. Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies had. I have now on hand a very large collection of negatives, the names of which are recorded alphabetically in a book for that purpose that can be seen in the reception room.

I've come, my dear people, among you once more,
Keeping up the good custom established of yore.
I bid you all welcome! I wish you good cheer—
A right merry Christmas and Happy New Year!
You will find me this year, as you have heretofore,
At McCormick's, on Front street—the Franklin Book Store
Where I've opened my Budget—'twas filled to the brim
With every nice Toy that could talk, walk or swim.
I've Musical Work Boxes—and Guitars for the fair
And Gifts for the Gents that are both rich and rare,
Whilst my Budget includes the nicest new Toys
Intended as Gifts to good Girls and Boys!
I've the Ark in which Grandfather Noah was kept
When all other creatures from the world were swept,
(For men in those days would in evil persist,
So the world was washed by an Oregon mist!)
I've Babies of Rubber of wax and of leather,
(They were all made to order) and well put together,
I've Vases and Cups nicely gilded outside,
And little Cock Horses for Bobbies to ride,
I've Cannon and Pistols which cannot explode,
For the reason they hold neither wadding or load.
I've steamboats that run—you just wind them in front
And they'll beat the Cascade or the Wilson G. Hunt.
I've a new Locomotive—it can never explode,
'Twas built for the use of Gaston's Railroad.
I've Engines that play—set them down on the floor
And they'll throw greater streams than old '7' or now '4.'
I've Furniture, Fiddles and French Fusileers,
Soldiers that look like B B Pioneers.
I've Swords made of tin—Guns and Pistols as well,
And the new kind of Drum that rings like a bell.
I've Masks of all sizes—I've Grace Hoops galore,
And you'll find at McCORMICK'S a thousand Toys more,
On FRONT STREET the Store is—105,
Where TOYS are as plenty as bees in a hive;
Go there and buy them—this is my request,
His Prices are Low and his Stock is the Best.

COMMON COUNCIL.—Regular meeting, Wednesday evening, December 4th, 1867, His Honor Mayor Chapman in the chair.

The Board was called to order and the roll called by the Clerk. Present—Councilmen Besser, Burch, Fechheimer, Mulkey, Porter and Rosenheim—6. Absent—Councilmen Hallock, McCraken and Ripley—3.

The minutes of November 27th were read, and on motion were amended and approved as amended (there being a clerical error made by a member in wording a resolution) passed.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS.

A communication from J. B. Wallace was read, proposing and agreeing to light and turn off all the street lamps lighted with oil for $4 per month, if the Common Council should deem proper to enter into such a contract, which was on motion referred to the Committee on Street and Public Property.

The Committee on Ways and Means, to whom was referred the petition of Annie O'Connor for relief, reported favorable to the prayer thereof, and by ordinance which was read, and on motion the report was adopted.

The Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses, to whom was referred the communication of S. J. McCormick and Aaron Bushwiler, proposing to publish the City Charter and Ordinances in the City Directory, being published by them for the year 1868, at the same price paid in former years, reported that they did not think it advisable at this time to incur the expense upon the city; for the reason that the Charter and Ordinances of the city had lately been published for use, in pamphlet form, which was read and on motion adopted.

COMMITTEE ON STREETS AND PUBLIC PROPERTY.

The above Committee to whom was referred the bill of — Durand for $80 for lighting and trimming sundry street lamps in third ward, reported that the same was correct; which was read and adopted and a warrant ordered drawn for the amount.

The same Committee reported certificates for amounts due for materials furnished and labor rendered on streets, in favor of the following persons: P. Baker, $223 80; W. L. Higgins, $38 85; C. A. Stewart, $514; F. Harbeck, $80; J. C. Rhoades, $216 66; which was read and on motion, warrants were ordered drawn for the amounts due each person respectively.

Also that E. J. Northrup had completed the work on Front street as per contract, which was read and on motion adopted.

The same Committee, to whom was referred the petition of Benjamin Stark and others, praying for permission to improve Stark street from the west line of First to the east line of Second streets, by grading, laying sidewalks and putting down cobble stones in the roadway, reported favorably to the prayer, and by ordinance; the report was read, and on motion adopted.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

A report from the City Assessor was received and read, stating that he had completed and returned the Assessment Rolls for the year 1868. The taxable property as returned by the City Assessor foots up as follows: Value of lands, $88,925; value of lots, $2,147,940; value of personal property, $2,181,850, value of all property, $4,418,665, less amount of indebtedness deducted, $235,172, total, $4,183,490.

The report of the City Recorder for the month of October was read, showing the amount collected and paid into the city treasury to be $86 65, which was on motion referred to the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses.

The report of the City Marshal for the month of October was read, showing the amount collected from fines and fees as above to be 86 65. The amount of fees due for services rendered were not footed up, and was on motion referred to the same committee.

CLAIMS.

A bill of Wright & Buzzard, for labor rendered on the streets, amounting to the sum of $53 60, was paid.

Also, the bill of C. A. Stewart, for constructing cistern tops, $11, was paid.

SALARIES OF CITY OFFICERS.

The bills of G. H. Belden, City Surveyor, and W. T. Morris and W. F. Chapman, assistants, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $218, was read and paid.

Bills of Jacobi, Marshal, $125; Joseph Sloan, James Partlow, Deputy Marshals, each $100; W. S. Caldwell, City Auditor, $125; Wm. McMillen, Street Commissioner, $16, were paid.

Also, bills of J. H. Butler, for cleaning room, $4, and Phillip Saunders, for fees due for services rendered as Deputy City Marshal, $7 20, were paid.

Bills of the Portland Gas Light Company, for gas furnished to street lamps and Council chamber for the month of November, amounting to $384 15, and the Portland Water Company, $50, were paid.

Bill of Robert Pittock, $30, for rent of house occupied by Engine Company No. 4, was paid.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance reported by the Committee on Streets and Public Property, providing for the time and manner of improving Stark street, between the west line of First and the east line of Second streets, was taken up, read and passed, under a suspension of the rules.

Also, the ordinance reported by the Committee on Ways and Means, appropriating the sum of $1,200 for the relief of Annie O'Connor, was taken up and read a second time; and after considerable discussion and remarks made by the Mayor and members of the Council, and sundry amendments were adopted, the ordinance passed, appropriating the sum of $800, to be paid in installments of $100 monthly for eight months, instead of $1,200. His Honor the Mayor, Councilmen Mulkey, Fechheimer and Rosenheim favored the appropriation of $1,200 as the ordinance was first reported. Councilman Besser was in favor of appropriating $250. Councilman Porter was in favor of $1,000, and finally Councilman Besser agreed to vote for $800, and in order to prevent the defeat of the bill entirely, Councilman Mulkey moved to amend by striking out $1,200 and inserting the figures $800, and was seconded by Councilman Rosenheim for the same reason, and was finally adopted, although both of the latter favored and urged the appropriation of $1,200. Yeas—Fechheimer, Mulkey, Porter and Rosenheim; noes Burch.

ENGROSSED ORDINANCES.

Councilman Fechheimer called up an ordinance from the table relating to private watchmen, providing that any person attempting to personate a private watchman, shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50; or upon failure to pay such fine, shall be imprisoned in the city jail not less than five nor more than thirty days, which was read a third time, and on motion, laid on the table.

Councilman Fechheimer offered a resolution, which was read, directing the clerk to give notice to the tax payers that the assessment roll had been completed and returned by the Assessor; and that the roll would be open for examination in the city Auditor's office until the first day of January, which was, on motion, adopted.

One of the Councilmen presented a notice, which was read by the Clerk, stating that at the next meeting he would introduce a resolution directing the Auditor to issue warrants against the property of all persons who were delinquent for street assessments and had not paid up to that time.

A resolution was offered by Councilman Besser, directing the City Auditor to give notice that the Committee on Streets and Public Property would receive proposals for lighting and turning off the street lamps until the 28th day of March next, for one year from that date, which was read and adopted.

On motion, adjourned.

BUSINESS AT WALLA WALLA.—We clip from the Walla Walla Statesman of the 29th ult., the following items which will be found interesting, perhaps, to business men here: "The wheat market continues brisk. Fifty cents per bushel, cash, is the ruling price......The freighters continue to receive a large business in the matter of transporting flour to Wallula. Not a day passes but we see numbers of large teams laden with flour passing through the streets on their way to the river. The mills, we are told, are kept busy day and night in order to supply the demand for shipment .... The market for country produce in this city, is more encouraging to the producers than it has been for the past two years. Fresh butter readily commands 45 to 50 cts. ₩ lb; eggs, 45 to 50 cts. ₩ doz; cabbage, 2 cts. ₩ lb; potatoes, 2 cts., onions, 4 to 5 cts, beets, 2 cts, and parsnips and carrots, 2 cts......A gentleman well posted in the pork business of this valley—in fact a live "hogist"—gives it as his opinion, that there will be near fifteen thousand head of swine butchered in this section between this time and next spring. Mr. I. T. Reese, of the Standard Mills, it is said, will put into barrels about eight hundred head of porkers, many of them weighing 400 lbs, nett ... The carpenters of Walla Walla are having unusually brisk times at present, having all the work they can do, and a scarcity of hands at that. Repairing buildings for the approaching winter appears to be the order of the day......The present may be termed growing weather. The grass on the benches and hills, is higher and better than we remember to have seen it before at this season of the year in this valley. As a consequence, stock of all kinds is faring remarkably well.

THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT.—We have received the first number of this new paper, published at Olympia, W. T., by E. T. Gunn and J. N. Gale. It is about the size of the Standard and the Tribune. In the general typographical make-up, it is vastly handsomer than any of the Sound papers, and contrasts favorably with any of them in respect of variety of news and miscellaneous matter. It looks as though some live man has hold of the editorial quill and scissors. The introductory article contains the following foreshadowing of its future political course: "Politically, we shall occupy thoroughly independent ground, and advocate every measure which we deem calculated to cherish and foster the welfare and happiness of the American people. With regard to our present national troubles, we take pleasure in assuring our readers that we shall support every measure consistent with national honor and the principles of humanity, which appear to us calculated to ensure a speedy and permanent reconstruction of the Southern States. Believing that the large majorities in both houses of our national Legislature are acting on just, honest and patriotic principles, we give them our hearty and earnest support."

BRUTAL ASSAULT UPON A CHINESE BOY.—Two boys about ten or twelve years old, were arrested yesterday and a warrant was out for another older boy, for making an assault upon a Chinese boy of some fifteen years of age. We did not learn the particulars; but the assaulted boy showed very plainly that he had been brutally beaten, and cut in the face as if with a sharp stone. The officers not succeeding in getting the older boy, who was probably the ring-leader of the assault, the trial was postponed and the two juveniles in limbo, were sent to jail. The Chinamen, friends of the boy, charged that the assault was for the purpose of getting money away from him; or that, at all events, some money was taken from him.

ELECTION TO BE CONTESTED.—We learn that the election of Mr. F. M. Arnold, to the office of Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department, will be contested before the Board of Delegates, on behalf of Mr. W. H. Wetsell, who received, according to the count of the election board, one vote less than Mr. Arnold. An incorrect count of the votes and irregularity of the proceedings, are alleged as the grounds of the contest. No time is yet fixed for the meeting of the Board of Delegates, but the charter requires them to meet within ten days after the election, and to declare the result.

COUNTY COURT—MARQUAM JUDGE.—The only business transacted in the County Court yesterday, was the appointment of guardian of the minor children, Wm. T. Coleman and Ed Walter Coleman; D. C. Coleman appointed guardian, and A. B. Hallock and John McCraken appointed appraisers of the property of the minors.

THE MONTANA.—This ship took on but little freight yesterday, in consequence of repairs going on, to the bearing of her propeller shaft. For the purpose of reaching this shaft on the outside, all the freight taken in was put in the forward hold, the effect of which was to sink her bow and raise the stern. While the repairs were going on, the bow was over sixteen feet down and the stern was less than seven feet, and yet the shaft was nearly a foot under water. Of course, the work, under such circumstances, was accomplished only with considerable difficulty.

"A GRAND COCK-FIGHT."—Such was the prominent heading of posters about town yesterday. The body of the poster stated that the refined entertainment would take place at a saloon at the corner of Front and Stark streets, last evening. We have no account of the birds, whether they died game, or whether they fought and ran away that they might live to fight another day, or whether they died at all or fought at all we did not attend the "grand" inauguration of the "sporting" season.

THE BARK OCCIDENT.—We met Capt. Simpson of the barkentine Occident, yesterday. He informed us that he came up with a view to purchase and ship a cargo of lumber, and that he had contracted for a cargo at West's Mills, but that, meeting with pressing offers to load with produce, at this city, he had concluded to take a cargo of flour and wheat. The Coach will tow up the Occident from West's to-day. She is a vessel of about 300 tons burthen, built by A. M. Simpson, at Coos Bay, altogether of Oregon timber and lumber.

GUESS NOT.—The Victoria Colonist of the 27th ult., announces the material rise in the prices of fare and freight on the Sound, since the purchase of the New World by the old company; but adds as something consolatory, that "the steamer Wilson G. Hunt is coming round from Portland to run as opposition boat." Guess the Colonist is mistaken; nobody here has heard of any such arrangement.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—At the auction sale of real estate, by Mr. A. B. Richardson, yesterday, block K, in Carnther's Addition, was sold for $415. The balance of real estate mentioned in Mr. Richardson's advertisement will be sold next Saturday. It is located in Couch's Addition.

FROM MR. PITTOCK.—I have used some of Henley's Royal Balsam in my family, and think it is splendid medicine for children, as well as for grown persons. For coughs and colds I freely recommend it to the public.
R. PITTOCK

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS'

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the 'Pain Killer;' but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is a certain cure for diseases of the BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, DROPSY, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and all diseases of the URINARY ORGANS,
whether existing in
MALE OR FEMALE,
from whatever cause originating and no matter of
HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the HEALTH AND HAPPINESS,
and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.—The stomach is the fountain-head of scores of diseases which infest the human system. Indigestion, bad enough per se, generates diarrhœa, faintness, vertigo, palpitation of the heart, general debility, etc. Get rid of it, then, at once by going through a course of
Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

A palatable and refreshing preparation, which as surely relieves all complaints of the stomach and its dependencies, as the sunshine melts the snow. A course of the medicine may not perhaps be necessary. One bottle frequently accomplishes a complete cure.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

FOR NON RETENTION or INCONTINENCE of Urine, irritation, inflammation, or ulceration of the bladder or kidneys, diseases of the prostrate glands, stone in the bladder, calculus, gravel or brick dust deposits, and all diseases of the bladder, kidneys and dropsical swellings, Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

THE GLORY OF MAN IS STRENGTH.—Therefore the nervous and debilitated should immediately use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

THE PEOPLE have been so much imposed upon by several worthless Sarsaparillas, that we are glad to be able to recommend a preparation which can be depended on as containing the virtues of that invaluable medicine, and is worthy of the public confidence. Doct. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures when anything can cure the disease that requires an alterative medicine.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT BUCHU
Is the Great Diuretic.
HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA
Is the Great Blood Purifier.
Both are prepared according to rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry, and are the most active that can be made.

MANHOOD AND YOUTHFUL VIGOR are regained by HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name he has won by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his manufacture, which here, and in the markets of the interior, a higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of connoisseurs, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be on their guard against this fraud.

NASBY ON FALL ELECTIONS.

Post Offis, Confedrit X Roads,
(wich is in the Stait uv Kentucky)
Oct. 30, 1867

I wuz sittin in the Postoffis, day before yester day, a cogitatin over the glorious results uv the Ohio and Pennsylvania elections, and hopin for an ekally good report from New York thinkin the while that perhaps ef my hopes wuz realized, and such a constooshnel Dimokrat ez Pendleton or Seymour should be elected, I waite, in consideraahun uv my long and I bleeve valuable services, a [illegible] to suthin higher and better and more profitable than a Postoffis, sich as I am at present holdin. I do not complain, for the possishen hez been the means uv establishin a credit upon wich I hev lived thus far comfortable, but yet I should prefer a place where the salary wood be sufficient to give me enuff so that I could lay up suthin for old age. The time is not far off when my individdooel exertions will not supply my wants

I felt good over the victory, and it seemed to me ez tho we ought to speak, ez Kentuckians, to our brethren North, instructin uv em how to hold the Staits wich they hev won for us When I decide upon a pint, I allus act, and so it wuz this time

I give notis by Isaaker Gavitt that the Corners wood assemble at the tootin uv the horn, for the purpose uv sendin forth the voice uv Kentucky to the Staits North. The even come, the horn wuz tooted fr [illegible] the steps uv the church, and the entire Corners wuz there Deekin Pogram wuz in his reglar seat, Isaaker Gavitt wuz in his sainted father's place, which hez gone hentz, Kernel McPelter wuz there, and also the others who make up the male population uv the Corners and their wives. It wuz a glorious meetin, and I wuz arubbin my hands and feelin good at the prospeck of an improvin occashun, when, to my utter disgust, I saw the door open and Jo Bigler, who wuz born to be my [illegible], come in, with Pollock and twenty or twenty-five niggers, old and young, yaller and black, and all uv em took seats together in the corner uv the church. I knowd by the weak look uv the niggers and the eggstreem qu[illegible] uv Bigler hisself, that suthin wuz up, wich wood uv course develop itself. Bigler and Pollock [illegible] develop.

I opened the meetin by remarkin that the times wore an auspishus look. The power uv the nigger in [illegible] politics had bin demonstrated The nigger hed bin so manipulated in Ohio and P[illegible] is ez to give us these States, which we [illegible] shown. But the Democrisy uv Ohio and Pennsylvany hed a work to do, wich they [illegible] with safety. They hed declared the nigger inferior to the Caucashen, wich he [illegible] is, and they must keep him so [illegible] when he is to [illegible] Ohio gives the [illegible] that State [illegible] facilities for learnin to read and write, [illegible] amplishments wich no laborin [illegible] is to be guided, controlled and [illegible] needs or [illegible]. So soon as a man [illegible] to hev an inquirin [illegible] to feel a dissatisfaction with his [illegible] Let Ohio [illegible] laws to [illegible] may not—"

"[illegible] the [illegible]," sed Joe Bigler, rising, "and git to be superior to the white. Is that it, P[illegible]?"

"[illegible]," returned I,—not knowin wat he wuz drivin at, "but ez Hevin ordained the [illegible] inferior to us, and sence us, it looks [illegible]"

"[illegible] to rise? That's wat yoor [illegible] I am and allus wuz a Democrat [illegible] that [illegible] my faith in the Lord, wich you ap[illegible] wich is strange, considerin yoor per[illegible] my [illegible] here wuz ordained by the Almighty to [illegible] an inferior po[illegible] why they'll do it anyhow, [illegible] indeed we [illegible] below their level. Ef [illegible] it is that the proud Cau[illegible] but that all other races hed [illegible] wich Divinity havin fixed, they can't [illegible]. That bein the case, wats the use [illegible] our foolin away our time a [illegible] his laws by any act uv ours? Ef the Almighty [illegible] kin we do it any better [illegible]?"

"But, [illegible] don't keep him [illegible] rise above us?"

"[illegible] that there hed bin a [illegible] and that we was after all, the [illegible] the sons of Japhet. [illegible] like that? But that aint wat ails [illegible] is. [illegible] Mis[illegible] in the foundashuns uv [illegible] with you that the nigger's [illegible] and that the Dimocrisy [illegible] ut git [illegible] matter my [illegible] the continyood [illegible] in uv [illegible] that wich is our rock, and onto [illegible] in wastin our [illegible]?"

"Wat do you m[illegible]?" asks I, not gettin at the drift uv [illegible]

"Mean! My [illegible] is plain The blacker the [illegible] is the further he is below [illegible] the [illegible] he is. In this [illegible] don't take [illegible] or virchoo or anything of the kind into account, but persued [illegible] that's devilish [illegible] white [illegible] than a [illegible], honest [illegible] any drop uv white blood in a [illegible] him just one drop less ob[illegible] at the [illegible] which I hev [illegible] to illustrate my [illegible]. The light [illegible] will rise."

[illegible] got up as if by [illegible], and I saw in [illegible] wat he was goin for. [illegible] I hev here twenty-two [illegible] one uv [illegible] ought to hev [illegible] daughter uv two pure niggers, but [illegible] This one's mother, for instance," and he laid his hand upon the shoulder uv a likely [illegible] prop[illegible] Pogram, wich circumstance [illegible] for her havin the Pogram nose and general [illegible] There was a [illegible] shriek heard, and Mrs. Pogram [illegible] fainted, and the Deekin [illegible] as a lobster, while Bigler, as [illegible] on

"[illegible] was wunst the property of Deekin [illegible] who is, I notice, here to-nite. Melissy, [illegible] up," and he, [illegible] likely mulatto woman [illegible]. "You will notis," sed he, "that Melissy is [illegible] the girl wich you see afore you [illegible] half lighter. The race bleached out [illegible] the Deekin McGrath's place. I hev [illegible] more, uv varius [illegible] who hev the McGrath face, but—"

Mrs. Deekin McGrath [illegible] a shreek uv rage, [illegible] out uv the church, while the Deekin to[illegible] the [illegible] uv his fellow Deekin, P[illegible]

"I [illegible] on, but wherefore? Yoo all see [illegible] I hev shown yoo in this collekshun wich I hev [illegible] up, the peculiar features uv the [illegible] the Bascoms, and every [illegible] that is, the features uv the [illegible] But since the [illegible], I hev notist that this thing hez [illegible] that [illegible] aint no [illegible] uv this mixture. Yoo purpose, I suppose, [illegible] em to their normal condishun, and [illegible] em men servants and maid servants. [illegible] this is done, let me entreat yoo, brethrin, to [illegible] Ef yoo hev eny regard for the Democrisy, don't tolerate it no more The mom[illegible] half-white nigger is born, yoo can't [illegible] only haf uv him, for only one-haf comes [illegible] and only one-haf under the laws agin niggers. That one-haf longs down to the Ham level, but tother haf sores to the Japhet place in [illegible]. Yoo can't whale a mulatto with only haf the [illegible] yoo kin a clear-blooded [illegible], and [illegible] they keep [illegible] out, and out, and out, [illegible] they are almost white, what then? When a nigger is nine-tenths Pogram, and onetenth [illegible] what then? Kin the darkin be so deef to the voice uv [illegible] to bare uv impulse [illegible] so much Pogram for the sake uv [illegible] his foot on so little nigger? I can't believe it. B[illegible], when it's all run out—when the nigger don't show at all—then wat is to prevent em from walkin off alone and settin up in [illegible] for themselves as white men? What will become uv the Dimocrisy then?"

All this time the niggers wuz titterin, and the white women wuz gaspin for breth, and the men wuz turnin red and white by turns. I rose to rebook him, when Bigler remarkt that he guest enuf hed been sed, and that probably the meetin had better adjourn. And the audience [illegible] give us two minutes to git out uv the house.

Slavery.—At a meeting of the friends of emancipation, [illegible] held in Manchester, documents were at hand setting forth that there were 78,000 slaves in the Portuguese colonies, 1,000,000 in the Spanish colony of Cuba, and 2,500,000 in Br[illegible]. According to Mr. Waller, who had travelled up the Zambesi with Livingstone, the Sultan of Zanzibar was a dealer in slaves to a frightful extent, 20,000 of them being imported into his dominions every year. The same authorities stated that nine-tenths of the population had disappeared, and that the slave trade on the east coast of Africa was as dreadful at the present time as it had ever been on the west coast.

A Remarkable Discovery—The Mound-Builders of the Mississippi.

The Old World with its historic associations, has claimed the attention of the learned to the exclusion of much that is interesting in the early settlement of this country The antiquarians of Europe have been diligently at work unraveling the historic significance of the lacustrine houses in the lakes of Switzerland and other places of the Continent Their investigations have been carried to such a remarkable extent that the discovery of a single utensil, or article of domestic use, has been sufficient to fix the precise age in which the person lived who made use of it

Thus the remains of a race beyond the pale of history have enabled men of science to determine their manner of living, what they used for food, their daily habits etc These revelations have enabled them to group these historic races into various ages, such as the stone, bronze and iron. The boundaries of these periods are as clearly defined as the palaeozoic or other ages of the geologist, and the man is made to figure in these early times with as true a story of his life and history as the animals of Cuvier from the discovery of a tooth or the bone of a foot.

These early races, about which there is so much mystery, have until very recently been confounded with the savages who inhabited the country at the time of its discovery There are doubtless very few who really understand that the "mound builders"—that strange race whose collossal fortifications and burial places line the banks of the Ohio—were as distinct from the red men as red men from whites. The traces of these mound builders are to be seen everywhere throughout the West, from the Alleghanies to the Rocky Mountains Sometimes they are mere hillocks, marking the spot where they are buried, but sometimes they are redoubts and breastworks, ramparts and circumvallations so well preserved that we are able to make out pretty clearly their means of attack and defense.

In the early settlement of the country it was stated that a large burial place of these mound builders was to be found just below Clarksville, on the Indiana side of the river. All traces of it were supposed to have been lost, but during the freshest of last Spring and Summer the banks below Clarksville caved in to a remarkable extent. The result was that the bones of the buried mound builders became exposed, and the bank, entire skeletons in various states of preservation

Here were skulls as solid as the day they were buried, with even the jagged sutures intact, and all their teeth grinning in ghostly solemnity at the passers-by. Long bones protruded from the yielding sand, while the smaller ones lay scattered around beneath the feet Not only were we in the presence of their works, but of the very men who were the builders. Among the bones were battle-axes, hatchets and arrow-heads, utensils of pottery, pestles, mortars, and articles used as ornaments Dr Neat of this city has in his possession a vessel of pottery, holding several gallons, which is marked over with ornamental work, and evinces considerable skill in the maker. A large mortar with several holes, such as the medicine men of the mound builders used, is in the possession of Dr Reed. Battle-axes and the ordinary hatchets were found in large numbers Unlike the mounds at Marietta and other places in Ohio, no metals or metallic substances have yet been found.

A few years ago the corpse of a warrior was discovered in one of the sepulchral mounds in the streets of Marietta, with the remains of a buckler "composed of copper overlaid with a thick plate of silver." The most ancient of mounds have yielded bracelets of brass, smooth and polished, rings and tubes of the same material, various ornaments for the person in silver, pipes of terra cotta, and slate, rude sculptures in wood, and finer ones in more durable material.

The people in the neighborhood have gathered up the relics found at the mound, and almost every fisherman possesses some trinkets or utensils of pottery, axes or p[illegible]. The pottery is much finer and harder than that in use with us, unglazed, with many strange devices figured upon the sides, while the edges are frequently scolloped.

If this [illegible] investigated, we doubt not it would yield a [illegible] deal of information [illegible] of value to the archæologist, and [illegible] in the history of a forgotten [illegible]. [illegible] Paper

The Catholic Church and the Black M[illegible], in a vigorous [illegible] the [illegible] character and [illegible] Catholic press of [illegible] Church as [illegible] in the following extract

Does not the [illegible] church consider the soul of the black man as valuable to God as the soul of the [illegible] himself? D[illegible] not the Church admit the negro to his fullest rights in receiving the Sa[illegible]? And must not a Catholic kneel down at the altar with the 'nigger'—even though he was as black as pitch beside him, and receive the 'body and blood of Christ' on the most perfect equality? Are not negro priests being ordained to-day in the Church, and sent out as missionaries? The Catholic Church, then, does not recognize color as a just reason for persecuting an unfortunate people. The Church sees in the black man a human being possessed of a soul as near to God as that of the most dainty Caucasian, and a soul that will be placed as near the great Infinite Himself as, perhaps, the souls of his white persecutors? To all these questions the "Catholic" press must answer yes must, for it is the doctrine of the Church. This intense hatred of Radicalism, and abuse of us for wishing to give the black man his rights, does not proceed from a Church spirit. It proceeds, then, from a political (Copperhead) spirit. Those pretended Catholic papers, then, are using the Catholic Church as a cloak, underneath which they advocate what they were privately started for—the Democratic party.

Vindictive.—There is a little scrubby looking copperhead paper published away down in Yamhill county, Oregon, which every now and then inflicts us with a number with an "X" marked on the wrapper. We are not aware of ever having done the editor, compositors, devil or mail boy of that institution, any harm Don't think we ever injured any citizen of that county; and still the Lafayette Courier presists in sending us an exchange. We suppose some one in the Courier office must hold a grudge against us. We knew the editor some years ago, when he was a "war democrat." He "termed" himself a "Douglas democrat." His last "leader" is an attempt to show that the negro is not a white man. That is the conclusion he reaches, but we couldn't afford to read the whole article, though it is "double leaded." We beg Jasper not to send us any more papers with an "X" on them. We will pay you liberally to desist. Life is too short to be wasted in tearing the wrappers off the Courier.—Boise Statesman.

After the Chinese Pirates.—A Washington dispatch, dated October 31st, says; Lieutenant Commander Wm. B. Cushing sailed from the Navy Yard, last evening, in command of the United States steamer Maumee, for China and Japan. The Maumee is to be attached to the China squadron, but her special business will be to look after the pirates who infest the waters of China and Japan, and who have been committing serious depredations of late upon unarmed merchantmen. The Maumee is a light draught screw steamer, carrying six guns, and it is thought that she will be particularly adapted to pursuing the piratical craft up the shallow rivers where they are in the habit of fleeing when pursued by a man of war. Commander Cushing will be remembered as the officer whose daring exploit resulted in the destruction of the rebel ram Albemarle. He is the youngest Lieutenant Commander in the navy.

The London Bookseller contains the following very curious announcement, printed in display type

To be sold by private contract, the copyright of a work in manuscript, entitled the "Tower of Babel Discovered, and the Deluge Explained" The substance of which is contained in about 350 foolscap 4to pages. The author and compiler asserts that he has one of the most important discoveries of the present age, namely, that of demonstrating the identity of the Great Pyramid of Egypt with the ancient Biblical Tower of Babel, and proving by conclusive evidence, that the Mosaic Deluge was a local flood, produced by the bursting of an ancient African lake, the remains of which he points out, and also indicates in detail the cause of the great catastrophe

Lord Rosse.—Speaking of the recent death of Lord Rosse, the N Y Tribune says:

He was born in 1800, and after having graduated at the University of Oxford became a member of the House of Commons, and afterwards Lord Lieutenant of Kings county, in 1845 he was elected to be representative Peer of Ireland, and voted for the Liberal Party. Lord Rosse was a passionate admirer of astronomy and the optical science, and had an observatory erected on his domains with a telescope inferior in quality and size to none but Herschel's As a philanthropist he is entitled to the thanks of the community, and the Academy of Science in St Petersburg, elected him to be one of their members He was decorated with the Legion of Honor, and b[illegible], in 1862, Chancellor of the University of Dublin. He leaves a son who becomes heir to his father's estate.

A correspondent of the Springfield Republican who is among the Arkansas Indians and does not like the "noble savage," says of our uncivilized "red brother"

"As he is usually pictured with a dignified countenance, resembling Daniel Webster as at the the time he said, 'As for me, give me liberty, we may as well tell you that he looks like the Evil One, minus horns and hoofs An utterly depraved [illegible] countenance, so filthy that it is alive with something besides animation and expression, the shrewdest of icky eyes and the look of Shylock bargaining for his pound of flesh His very smile is like the grin of a skull, which Victor Hugo calls 'the satire of laughter' Of the wife of a chief he says 'Mrs Black Kettle is a hag besides whom Meg Merrilies is Venus, and which the Witch of Endor Hebe She is a survivor of the Chivington massacre and has ten bullet holes in her body, but there is enough of her, such as it is, to stand it"

The death is announced of M[illegible] Dubner, one of the most accomplished Greek scholars of the age Like most great Hellenists, M. Dubner was a German by birth, but had long settled in Paris His industry was equal to his learning His editions and abridgments of Greek classics for the use of schools were very numerous, but his chief claim to the gratitude of scholars rests in his contributions to the new edition of Stephen's Thesaurus, on which he was engaged conjointly with the late M Hase and his Scholia Aristophanes.

THE ROYAL BALSAM!

HAS NOW BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC FOR A length of time and wherever used is highly recommended, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction, but, on the contrary, all are delighted with it and speak in the highest terms of its magical effects. The astonishing efficacy of the ROYAL BALSAM, in curing the diseases for which it is recommended entitles it to the highest rank among the list of medicines, and no family can be without it after once trying it

Read the following testimonials from some of the most prominent citizens of Oregon

MIRACULOUS CURE.

Dr. Henley—Dear Sir I feel it but a duty to inform you and the public what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my wife She had been affected with a severe cough for several weeks, which had assumed a dangerous feature, for which many physicians have been trying without any material benefit, and all the remedies failed to give her any relief. Without relief was got I [illegible] ed for the worst, in her present condition. The cough appeared to be worse at night, she could get no rest—when Mr Randall, of this place, advised me to try your Royal Balsam, all other remedies having failed, I concluded to try it, and I purchased two bottles. Strange to say, by the time I gave her three spoonfuls of the Balsam she got relief and slept a thing she had not done for three nights previous. By the time she had taken one bottle the cough was checked. Its effect was truly miraculous as the cure was effectual hence, I have no hesitation in recommending the Royal Balsam to all who are afflicted, and it appears astonishing to me that medicine of such great merit, and I might say magical effect, is not more in use. My candid opinion is, if persons has it once, they never be without it in the house.
Vancouver, March 1, 1867. H COCHRAN.

From Wm. Doty.

North Yamhill, July 15, 1867.

Dear Dr. Henley—It is with sincere gratitude I undertake to write to you, what your Royal Balsam has done for me For the last 12 years I have been afflicted with a severe cough and what also some of the physicians called the Bronchitis, and have spent a fortune to get cured, trying all the physicians and remedies I could get to no purpose. Through the influence of my neighbors (for you have a great name with them here,) I got a bottle of your Royal Balsam and finding that it relieved me considerable I sent for a half dozen more. And now after one month using it I am perfectly cured I gained ten pounds within a month and feel quite a different man I send you this for publication for the benefit of humanity that through my experience others in affliction may be relieved as I have been Yours truly,
WILLIAM DOTY.

From Sophia M. Holman.

Dear Dr Henley—It is my duty to inform you and the public, what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my children Two of them had a very bad cough and cold, I got a bottle of the Royal Balsam, and gave them some at bedtime and some in the morning, and that was all that was needed to cure them I was astonished at not hearing them cough again, but so it was I find if you give it in an instant, and I think every mother ought to have a bottle of your Royal Balsam in the house in case a child should get the croup for which it is a sure remedy as it acts like magic on children. What I have seen and heard from my neighbors about the Royal Balsam I would sooner depend on it than on any prescription from any physician I have lost two children within the last year of the same disease had I had at the time some of the Royal Balsam I am confident my dear ones would be alive now I shall always recommend it to all my friends, for I consider it a blessing and Godsend to mankind,
Yours truly, SOPHIA M. HOLMAN.

From Drs. Bell & Parker.

We have sold a great deal of Medicine since we have been in business and now have fifteen different kinds of Expectorants for sale But Dr Henley's Royal Balsam takes the palm from all In fact we sell six bottles of Royal Balsam to one of any other kind—and really it seems of no use to keep any other During our experience we have never seen any medicine that gives the satisfaction the Royal Balsam does as is proven by the results daily coming in from the country of old Chronic cases when nothing else would remove the dreadful cough they had I find it is good for Bronchitis and Asthma We acknowledge it is a pleasure to sell medicine that gives such universal satisfaction
BELL & PARKER,
Druggists, Oregon City

From W. F. Barber.

Dr Henley—Dear Sir I had the Asthma for the last four years so bad that it came near choking me, I tried all the patent medicines recommended for the cure of Asthma without doing me the least good till I was told to try some of your Royal Balsam which on several afflicted with the same disease has performed wonders I am using it now for a week and strange to say I have not experienced anything since and I really believe that I am perfectly cured anyhow I shall never be without a bottle of the Royal Balsam in the house in case of a similar attack and I have no hesitation in recommending it to all afflicted with the same disease
I am Yours truly
W F BARBER

From J. H. Morril.

Dear Dr. Henley—I think it but justice to you that these few lines should be made known to the public for there is so much humbug going on in patent medicines and quack nostrums now a days that I had lost all faith in everything in the shape of medicine I was affected with what is called Bronchitis for the last thirty years I coughed and wheezed for an hour at a time I tried some of the best physicians in the Atlantic States and on this coast all to no purpose I could get no relief, and I really thought there was no relief for me in the world I was induced to try a bottle of your Royal Balsam and it had a most remarkable effect on me and before I had used up four bottles the cough left me and I can talk as loud as anybody my wife and neighbors don't know what to make of it My opinion is that if they knew the value of the Royal Balsam there is not a family in the country that would be without it I think there is not a better medicine in existence for Bronchitis or cough than the Royal Balsam and I conscientiously recommend to all so afflicted to give it a fair trial
I remain yours, truly,
